BEASTS OF RUIN

by Ayana Gray

Koffi has saved her city and the boy she loves, but at a terrible price. Now a servant to the god of death, she must use her power to further his conquest, all while choosing between the life she once had, or the one she could have, if she embraces her gifts.

Koffi and Ekon-separated by land, sea, and gods-will have to risk everything to reunite. But the longer they're kept apart, the harder each of their loyalties are tested.

SO, THIS IS LOVE

by Tracy Andreen

Neither Finley nor Arthur knows where the other stands. Are they a couple or not? What does one magical Christmas Eve kiss in Oklahoma mean for their relationship status? This confusion isn't helped by the re-entry of old enemies into their school lives, especially ones that may be crushing on Arthur. Finley is at a loss when navigating the complexities of her new (maybe) relationship, which could very well turn into love... if she doesn't blow it.

SHARK PRINCESS

by Nidhi Chanani

Meet Kitana—a Shark Princess and the first of her kind. Her allergy-ridden, best friend, Mack, wants to be one too, but he worries that his sharp teeth and big sneezes make him too dangerous to be a princess. With Kitana's help, Mack realizes his unique shine. Nidhi Chanani's signature artwork brings this underwater series to life in a spunky tale about friendship and redefining who and what a princess can be.

THE BRIGHT SIDE

by Chad Otis

This endearing picture book about making the most of any situation is also a heartfelt and meaningful portrait of houselessness that's just right for young children.

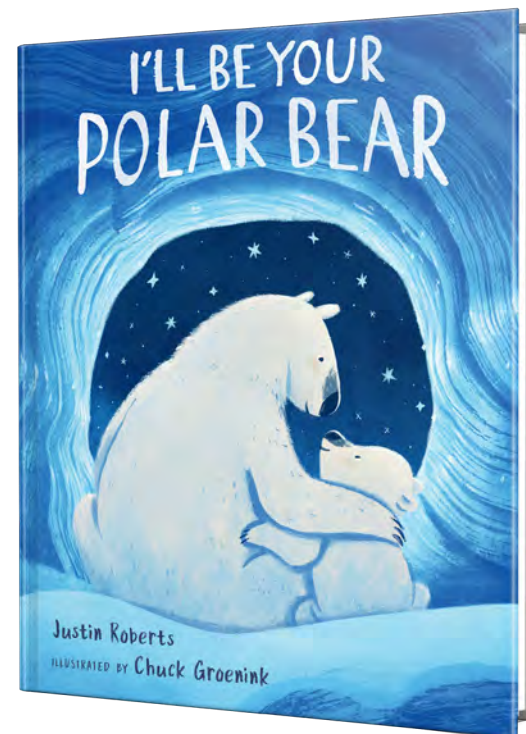

Sometimes it's hard to stay positive: like when you live in an old bus instead of a house and especially when you go to a new school where all the kids already have friends. But the boy in this story discovers that he can do things he never thought possible by using the skills his parents taught him and finding a way to look on the bright side.

BEA AND MR. JONES

by Amy Schwartz

Celebrate the 40th anniversary of Bea and Mr. Jones with this reissue of Amy Schwartz's classic picture book.

It's been forty years since Bea and her father first swapped places—Bea trading her lunchbox for a briefcase and Mr. Jones leaving his corporate job for a spot in kindergarten. This New York Times Best Illustrated Book of the Year and Reading Rainbow featured title holds up as a story showcasing hugely relevant early childhood themes of empowerment, capability, and importance.

THE WILLS AND WON'TS

by Angela Woolfe;
illustrated by Roland Garrigue

The Wills and the Won'ts can't seem to agree on anything, so they build a wall to keep the other out. Until a hopeful young May realizes that perhaps they can find some common ground, if only they work together.

A fantastically timely and timeless read-aloud with the bouncing rhyme of Dr. Seuss and a message that will resonate with readers of all ages: Tolerance and togetherness put us all on the same side.

STOP AND SMELL THE COOKIES

by Gibson Frazier;
illustrated by Micah Player

Sometimes Dash gets so excited that his chest feels warm and fuzzy, his toes dance, and his fingertips tickle the air. When that starts, he can't seem to control what he does next, and often, trouble follows. Luckily, with a little help, Dash finds a way to slow himself down when big feelings threaten to take over.

This joyous book introduces a clever technique to engage the imagination and relax the mind, perfect for those who are impulsive like Dash.
